

We use a blend of documentary, traditional, and photojournalistic styles. Our style is most often called "mixed style" and can meet the needs of any bridal couple.

Since you're probably thinking about selecting us as your wedding Photographer and Videographer, you should also consider our personality and the way our team will approach your wedding. Our ability to interact with you and your guests is critical. After you meet our team, I think you'll be confident in our ability to become an unobtrusive yet enjoyable addition to your special day.

We work hard to blend into your wedding, capturing the magic of your event. We take an active role when directing the creative and traditional portraits of the bride and groom, wedding party, and family groupings. We hope to become more than just your wedding Photographer and Videographer team. We are your responsible guide for recording memories for you and your family for many years to come.
